The Joker (DC character) Psychology

How do you interpret the psychology of the Joker?

The Joker from DC Universe was the most loved villain made famous by Heath Ledger.^[1]

That character was more realistic and straightforward than sugar-coated “saving the whole world (America)” Batman.

- The Joker was a psychotic^[2] and a thorough nihilist.^[3]
 - I say psychotic because he reiterated strange statements like:
 - “When you are good at something never do it for free.”
 - He had lost the connection with reality. He had an obsession with his enemy “Batman” when he said, “I need you”; “It’s fun”.

I believe whatever doesn't kill you simply makes you...stranger.

- I say nihilist because of his statement:
 - What doesn't kill you simply makes you...stranger”.
- Joker was Nietzsche's ubermensch.^[4]
 - A person who has overcome all his fear of life and death.

In The Dark Knight, how did the Joker really get his scars?

I always wondered about this too until I realized that it might be the case that neither story was true.

The Joker, as portrayed in the Dark Knight, was a truly selfless individual, wholly devoted to creating chaos in the world and mind of others. So when he was telling those stories of 'how he got his scars', he is really telling the story of the person he is about to victimize.

In the case of the mobster, the Joker either heard from sources, or concluded from his over masculine behavior, that the man either did not have a father growing up or had a very abusive father. So the Joker narrated a horrific story of an abusive father to press on his emotional scars (if you re-watch the movie, this street-toughened man was unreasonably freaked out by the Joker). In the case of Rachel, the Joker thought, up to that point, that Harvey had fled by himself, leaving behind his girlfriend to stand up for him. So the Joker told a story of how he too once tried to protect 'his spouse', but she did not appreciate his attempts and leaves instead, leaving him permanently scarred. It could be the case that, had batman not intervened, the Joker would have cut open Rachel's face to 'introduce a little anarchy' into her and Harvey's relationship.

Now I realized this doesn't exactly answer your question. But I hope this realization is somehow more emotionally satisfying than knowing the exact event that gave him the scars. In addition, my answer is also very speculative, but I think these speculations are consistent with the Joker's subtle yet manipulative character. And one of the reasons that he's such a memorable villain is because there is so much subtext to his actions

The Real Reason Why The Joker And The Batman Will Never Kill Each Other

We all know why Batman won't kill the Joker. Batman has his own special sense of justice.

He swears by two major rules: don't use guns, and don't kill.

But what if I told you there's another reason why Batman can't kill the Joker, and it's because they're fighting an ideological battle for each other's soul.

They are both two sides of the same coin: two individuals who, because of a horrible day in their lives, became insane and decided to take on the world and make it in their image.

"I think it's important to look at (one of) the Joker's origin stories. From The Killing Joke :

You see it doesn't matter if you catch me and send me back to the asylum... [...] I've proved my point. I've demonstrated there's no difference between me and everyone else! All it takes is one bad day to reduce the sanest man alive to lunacy. That's how far the world is from where I am. Just one bad day. You had a bad day once, am I right? I know I am. I can tell. You had a bad day and everything changed. Why else would you dress up as a flying rat? You had a bad day, and it drove you as crazy as everybody else... [...] Something like that happened to me, you know, [...] My point is, I went crazy. When I saw what a black, awful joke the world was, I went crazy as a coot!

You can see this philosophy behind so much of what the Joker does throughout the movie, notice how many of his crimes involve getting relatively innocent people to commit atrocities. He does whatever he can to give them that one bad day that will push them over the edge.

While Batman's sufferings have definitely left him alienated from the regular populace (stranger), they've also made him the man he is (stronger). The Joker's goal is just to corrupt people, to leave them as twisted and messed up as he is. This is particularly evident with Harvey Dent to whom the Joker gives personal attention. You can see his glee in corrupting Gotham's "White Knight".

Basically, while the Joker has no problem with killing people, he loves it when he can make them as strange as he is. Most of his plans are set up so that one way or another, he'll get an outcome that makes him happy."

Joker, a psychotic, psychopathic, mentally ill, crazy, antisocial, disturbed and homicidal man. This type of adjectives comes into our mind when we hear the name 'joker'.

Alright than let's take look at very dark edge, let's get into the Clown Prince's mind by taking each of these adjectives or psychological disease and analysing it with joker's behavioural symptoms.

- 1. Psychotic: Possible psychosis symptoms include delusions, hallucinations, talking incoherently and agitation. The person with the condition usually isn't aware of his or her behaviour (source: Psychosis). That symptoms doesn't match with joker because he is well aware of what he is doing and in the vast majority of depictions, the Joker is not experiencing such hallucinations. Sometimes he does talk incoherently but that doesn't simply make him psychotic.

One of the greatest reasons for the success of "The Dark Knight" was undoubtedly the unparalleled portrayal of JOKER by HEATH LEDGER. It is believed by many people that the sudden death of this actor was because of his obsession with the character JOKER. There's a theory that he had become so consumed by the negative and dark element of the character that it led him to his death by drug overdose.

For preparing himself to play the role of Joker he had isolated himself completely from everybody in a hotel room and devoted all his time to bring about those negative and dark traits he needed to play this character. He even maintained a diary during that time which contained some chilling magazine and newspaper cuttings and photos. In fact he had scribbled "Bye-Bye" at the end of his journal.

He said in an interview in 2007 ,

"It's a combination of reading all the comic books I could that were relevant to the script and then just closing my eyes and meditating on it. I sat around in a hotel room in London for about a month, locked myself away, formed a little

0.17. PRESENTATION OF TECHNOLOGY

In the Span of Summer 2017 Author has developed technology which allows for a female to have lack of Control over her Mind & Body; in effect: You're able to steer her with your mind as follows

¹³⁶ (it was tested in the field with Success --- also on females)

/ where:

* Did you Know that just 3 (three)¹³⁷ Men in the ENTIRE World Know how to fuck properly Women?

* Author projects/ plans also, that you'd be able to Control her Mind Via your+Mind as you'd be walking an Avatar [[because The Devil (himself) [Lucifer] telepathically offered Author a Deal which he Valued the Most and asked for Permission to his Mind to deliver --- it was rejected because he was Never-able to Deliver]]

It's All planned Far further although just to give an outlook of what Has been developed.

¹³⁶ EXACTLY as it is written (Manipulation level 5 deals with it). To have access to so-called Mind Mind-Reality: you're required to have unlocked pineal gland for which there are special herbs.

¹³⁷ Including in it Author.

from where:

* Technology is based on birth Horoscopes [[which Builds on birth Traits of Women and Develops them]] --- see Contact {also Yours}

* In the book there would be presented Techniques of Seduction that were used by Females on the Author [[over 153

* Predicted is also Presentation of technology for the Opposite sex [[Females controlling men (although in Version different that is commonly thought)]]

0.19. TYPES OF AUTHOR FEMALES

Representational [[females that were/ are Interested in Author

And also

(or the Author could have had)

0.19+ IMPLEMENTATION OF TECHNOLOGY

It's varied due to Agenda/ #2 although:

* Support of female [Slave] through providing her with the Knowledge (ev. Some functional funds, care, Contacts or also else) or by Enabling her to Achieve: Success in provided by Her fields or also those Selected From her free will --- to pay 90% of earnings [[rest 10% can Also by used to [..]]

* Introductory for the Agenda spheres of work to be Executed & Delivered Forever with Success

* Sale for the Slavery [[dependent on the Agenda]]

{With also} It's required to notice that Women with n0-such support have lack of Possibility to Achieve in selected by themselves [[by-birth]] fields/ spheres or also those imposed and All-that with-n0ne of creating Karma/ #1.2.
